Porter's Five Forces Analysis

Threat of New Entrants (LOW)

High Barriers to Entry, Pidilite's robust distribution network, strong brand equity and advertising will compel new entrants to spend big on R&D

Bargaining Power of Buyers (LOW)

Lack of substitutes and low competition has made Pidilite the market leader so Pidilite has strong pricing power

Competitive Rivalry (LOW)

Limited competition from foreign brands
Small local brands combated through creative advertising

Bargaining Power of Suppliers (Medium)

Dependency on imports for raw materials and depreciation of INR play crucial role

Threat of Substitutes (LOW)

No significant competitor present, major players already neutralized via acquisitions

Direct Marketing via Carpenters

FEVICOL CHAMPIONS' CLUB

Decades ago furniture industry was dominated by wood based furniture production and the carpenters had a big say in the choice of adhesive to use in building furniture.

Fevicol created the "FEVICOL CHAMPIONS' CLUB" to strengthen the social connect among carpenters, educate them, support them in other ways and to celebrate events.

Through this Fevicol created a strong bond with the main users of their products.

Bonding with Consumers

FEVICOL FURNITURE BOOK

In older times hiring interior designers to design furniture and homes wasn't a popular practice in India. Fevicol saw the opportunity and introduced the "Fevicol Furniture Book" to help people with design ideas and established a relationship with the Indian families.

Innovative Advertising

Fevicol has developed a knack for creating impactful ads which embeds in the memory of people easily
